

NOVEMBER

Let's talk about one of the unsung heroes of Thanksgiving rituals - the Thanksgiving walk. Ask most people and you'll find that their traditions involve some outdoor time during the day. Maybe it's a stroll after dinner to ward off the post-turkey nap. Maybe it's a walk through the woods before the cooking starts. Whatever brings us out the door, there's something magical about being in nature on that day. Of course the Berkshire weather is never predictable, but so often that fourth Thursday in November is cold but not too cold - perfect for heavy sweaters and thick socks. The light then is so specific as we near the solstice, casting long shadows on the ground, getting caught in eyelashes as we take in the warm browns that have supplanted the reds and yellows of the months before.

As we head outside this holiday, there is so much to be thankful for all around us. The beauty of the land, the farms that have fed us over the season, those who have cared for the land before us, and the hope of those who will inhabit and celebrate this place in years to come.

Read on for the best of November in our stores!

NEW STAFF FAVORITE!

This month, we're featuring a brand new product on our shelves from Hudson Valley's Hany's Harvest. Oxymels are the product of an ancient herbal technique of creating a rich honey/ vinegar infusion. This elderberry version has orange peel, cinnamon, and cloves. The result, Hany's Harvest Elderberry Oxymel, is an elderberry syrup like nothing we've had before - sweet, rich, and packed with warming flavors. It's great as a shot, but would be equally at home as a syrup in seltzer, or even drizzled over ice cream. As we head into the winter, make sure you have a bottle on hand to boost immunity and give your system delicious and much needed support!

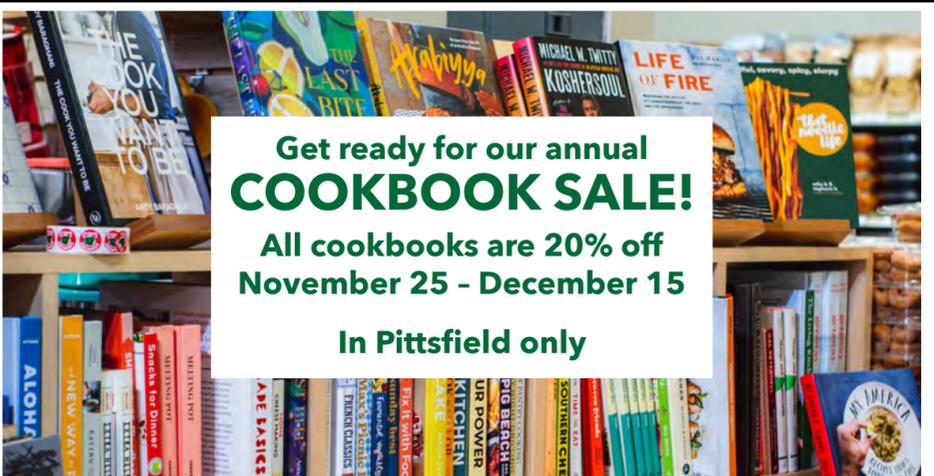

WINE DEPARTMENT VINE & DINE SELECTION

VILLA MONSIGNORE BARBERA D'ASTI
 Piedmont, Italy

$9.99, save $3!

This ruby red wine has robust aromas of tart cherry and licorice. Expect ripe blackberry fruit flavors with hints of dried herbs and black pepper. A very food-friendly red that pairs well with aged cheeses, pasta, or risotto. Especially good with poultry, mushrooms, pork, or braised beef. An excellent crowd-pleaser for your Thanksgiving table.
