

YOUR MONTHLY GUIDE TO DELICIOUS DEALS AND HAPPENINGS IN OUR STORES

August has a way of settling in – warm mornings, longer evenings, and somewhere around the first week, blueberries. Real ones. These are local. These didn’t have far to travel. There’s a joy in eating something exactly when it wants to be eaten. Not rushed, not shipped in from thousands of miles away. Just picked, and here, and yours.

You’ll smell it before you see it, walking into Guido’s this month. That ripe, quiet abundance in the produce section that makes you slow your cart down without meaning to. Corn still in its husk, heirloom tomatoes leaning sideways under their own weight, stone fruit so juicy it basically dares you to eat it over the sink. It’s a lot to take in before you’ve even reached the blueberries, honestly.

Eat a few straight out of the container on the way to the car. Some things are better enjoyed without waiting.

August doesn’t linger. Neither do the local blueberries. Come in and get some before they’re both gone!

Read on for the best of August in our stores!

OUR AUGUST RECIPE

Corn Gazpacho

from Chef Andrea Krest
This recipe couldn’t be simpler – or more delicious!
Serves 4

INGREDIENTS

kernels of 4 ears yellow corn
1 yellow bell pepper, seeded and chopped

1 large yellow heirloom tomato
1 cucumber, peeled and chopped
1/4 cup olive oil
2 tablespoons sherry vinegar
1/2 teaspoon sea salt
black pepper to taste

Garnishes:
chiffonade of basil; additional corn kernels (from one ear), roasted; sliced cherry tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt

DIRECTIONS

1. Set aside kernels of one ear of corn. Combine the rest of the ingredients (excluding garnishes) in a blender and puree until smooth.
2. Toss the reserved corn kernels with a little olive oil and roast in a 450 degree oven until charred.
3. Garnish the gazpacho with the roasted corn, cherry tomatoes and basil to impart texture as well as flavor.
4. Chill and serve cold.

Enoteca
GUIDO'S

British sailors brought gin to this Spanish island in the 1700s and the locals never let it go. Distilled from Penedès wine alcohol (grape, not grain) and infused with wild juniper that grows steps from the sea, this gin carries a briny, savory edge you won't find anywhere else. It's rare, smooth, and unmistakably Mediterranean.

The Made In Portable Charcoal Grill is your outdoor adventure showpiece.

Build a screaming-hot sear or go low and slow with wood smoke – the adjustable charcoal bed (inspired by the Argentine parilla) gives you total control for the tenderest meats or fish and the most flavorful veggies. Flip up the stainless grilling surface and swap in the optional plancha for smash burgers, seared scallops, or griddled breakfast. It's the perfect all-in-one for late summer and early fall camping trips, on the go.

Now $499 (save $100)
add the plancha for $149 (save $50)
